MAJOR, MINOR, AND UNIT GROUP LISTING OF TITLE REVISIONS TO ELIMINATE SEX STEREOTYPING FROM THE CANADIAN CLASSIFICATION AND DICTIONARY OF OCCUPATIONS	85

PREFACE

In 1966, the Department of Manpower and Immigration, in consultation with Statistics Canada, undertook the development of the Canadian Classification and Dictionary of Occupations (CCDO) with the generous assistance and co-operation of commercial, industrial, institutional and professional establishments and organizations across Canada.

Tens of thousands of jobs were analyzed and synthesized to produce approximately 6,700 occupational definitions, with worker trait ratings, systematically grouped within a unique classification structure on the basis of work performed and other considerations.

The jobs were analyzed and rated for aptitudes, interests and temperament requirements resulting in Occupational Qualification Profiles and other occupationally related information.

This occupational information was published in 1971 as CCDO Volume 1 - Classification and Definitions, and CCDO Volume 2 - Occupational Qualification Requirements.

These publications have been well received by the private and public sectors and are presently being used in business offices, high schools, community colleges, universities and government departments in Canada and abroad.

The Department of Manpower and Immigration has an ongoing program whereby CCDO data are being continuously updated. This publication lists occupational titles that will replace sex discriminatory titles presently appearing in all CCDO publications. In the future the CCDO will be published in a series of booklets based on Major Groups. These booklets will be free of all references that denote sex.

A C K N O W L E D G E M E N T S

The preparation of this publication was carried out by the Department of Manpower and Immigration.

G.D. Robertson, assisted by J.A. Sobkow and R. Hoey, identified all occupational titles which were to be replaced in the CCDO and recommended substitute titles for them.

Lionel G. Dixon, Manager of the Occupational Analysis and Classification Systems Division, provided the overall direction required for this major undertaking.

Appreciation is expressed to J.G. Davis of the Ontario Ministry of Education, who conducted an initial survey of the suggested title changes and submitted many worthwhile comments. A review of suggested title changes was also carried out by numerous provincial and federal women's bureaux, some national unions, and provincial Directors of Apprenticeship. They provided many useful comments and suggestions that were included in the list of titles.

It is expected that there may be some disagreement with the titles selected. However, a conscientious effort was made to utilize occupational titles that would assist in identifying the nature of work performed and at the same time gain acceptance of users.

A V E R T I S S E M E N T

Un groupe d'étude constitué par la Direction de l'analyse et du développement - Professions et carrières du ministère de la Main-d'oeuvre et de l'Immigration entreprend actuellement une étude dans le but de dépouiller tous les titres de professions de la CCDP de leur référence au sexe.

Notre première tâche sera de déterminer s'il est faisable de trouver des équivalents adéquats dans la langue française et vous comprendrez sans doute que c'est là une entreprise qui exigera beaucoup de temps.

INTRODUCTION

In response to International Women's Year, many institutions, employers, newspapers, Canada Manpower Centers and other groups were in search of non-discriminatory sex free titles, but there was considerable confusion of which possibilities were most appropriate. To assist them this manual has been prepared which hopefully in the years to come will set the standards for occupational titles.

Amended occupational titles appearing in this list should also be used when reference is made to a sex stereotyped title found in the 1971 edition of the Canadian Classification and Dictionary of Occupations (CCDO). Future CCDO publications will be free of all sex-discriminatory titles and references.

The following list of general guidelines represents how most sex stereotyped titles were dealt with in the CCDO. Where titles are not covered by guidelines, or where titles deviate from stated guidelines, it should be noted that general usage, descriptive nature of words used, and common sense prevailed in the selection of substitute titles:

1. BRAKEMAN - referred to as BRAKE WORKER
2. CAMERAMAN - referred to as CAMERA OPERATOR
3. CONTROL MAN - referred to as CONTROLLER
4. POLICEMAN - referred to as POLICE OFFICER
5. REPAIRMAN - referred to as REPAIRER
6. SERVICEMAN - referred to as SERVICER
7. SALESMAN - This title has been replaced by either SALESPERSON, SALES REPRESENTATIVE OR SALES AGENT. SALESPERSON is applicable to everyone who is involved in sales work and not classified as either a SALES REPRESENTATIVE or SALES AGENT.

SALES REPRESENTATIVE normally applies to those occupations where

- (a) technical advice and professional assistance are given
- or
- (b) an organization's services are being sold, i.e., 5177-122 SALES REPRESENTATIVE, FREIGHT SERVICE.

SALES AGENT usually identifies one who acts on a client's behalf in the purchase or sale of items, i.e., 5135-120 SALES AGENT, LIVESTOCK.

8. There are approximately 900 occupational titles in the CCDO that make use of the generic term Foreman. It is understood that all of these titles in future publications will be amended to FOREMAN/WOMAN. However, for this publication, only those titles appear where more than one of the terms in the title are sex discriminatory, i.e., FOREMAN: OFFICE-MACHINE REPAIRMEN becomes FOREMAN/WOMAN, OFFICE MACHINE REPAIRERS.

9. MASTER - Titles such as MASTER GLASS BLOWER, and MASTER DYER have not been changed as the word "Master" denotes skill rather than sex.
10. MAN/WOMAN - has been used to replace sex stereotyped titles where a suitable and meaningful alternate title could not be developed, i.e., DRAUGHTSMAN/WOMAN; FISHERMAN/WOMAN.
11. DUAL OCCUPATIONAL TITLES - have been used where a single meaningful title could not be employed. Alphabetical order was the determining factor in arrangement of the dual titles, i.e., WAITER/WAITRESS; HOST/HOUSTESS, RESTAURANT OR COFFEE SHOP.
12. Most occupational descriptions in the CCDO have been assigned worker function designations based on the premise that every worker is required to function in relation to Data, People and Things (DPT) at various levels. In desexing occupational titles the Things Function played a significant role in the selection of appropriate titles as follows:
 - sex stereotyped titles assigned a Things function of Tending have generally been referred to as Tenders, i.e., 8163-158 BRINEMAN to BRINE-EQUIPMENT TENDER;
 - occupations with an Operating-Controlling function have been designated as Operators, i.e., 8227-178 BEER FILTERMAN to BEER-FILTER OPERATOR;
 - setting-up occupations have been referred to as Set-Up Operators if the operation of equipment in addition to set-up work is involved, i.e., 8593-110 BAG-MAKING-MACHINE SET-UP MAN to BAG-MAKING-MACHINE SET-UP OPERATOR. If, however, duties involve only set-up work, the generic title used was Setter, i.e., 8335-194 BRAZING-MACHINE SET-UP MAN to BRAZING-MACHINE SETTER.
13. Training time in the CCDO is measured by two numerically coded scales: General Education Development (GED) and Specific Vocational Preparation (SVP). The scale representing GED ranges from 1 to 6 while the SVP scale is from 1 to 9. Therefore, a GED:SVP of 1:1 would represent the lowest level of training while a 6:9 would indicate the highest level. With these scales in mind the generic titles ATTENDANT and WORKER have been used to eliminate sex stereotyping of many occupational titles with relatively low GED and SVP levels. Usually an ATTENDANT has a GED:SVP range from 2:2 to 2:3 and frequent involvement with machinery. Descriptions for WORKERS normally carry a GED:SVP rating of 1:2 to 2:4 and duties often involve work with tools and equipment.

There are three basic types of occupational titles appearing in this publication:

Base Title - is a descriptive phrase or word that identifies the type of work described in the occupational definition. It usually represents the title most commonly used for that occupation. Base titles are printed in upper-case letters.

Alternate Title - is merely a synonym for the base title. Alternate titles are printed in lower-case letters.

Related Title - bears a close relationship to a base title and its occupational description. However, it generally reflects a more specific situation than the base title. Related titles are identified through use of initial capitals.

Throughout the publication approximately 80 alternate titles and 20 related titles have been deleted rather than desexed. There are a variety of reasons for these deletions, as illustrated by the following examples:

- (a) In the past certain occupations were commonly designated by more than one title. Now that only a single title is recognized, some CCDO titles require deletion, i.e., FLIGHT ATTENDANT now replaces the base and alternate titles of STEWARDESS, AIRLINE; airplane stewardess; and flight stewardess.
- (b) There have been no base title deletions. However, in some instances suitable substitutes for questionable alternate and related titles could not be found or were considered obsolete and, therefore, the existing titles were deleted.

Many occupational titles are covered by legislation. These legislated titles sometimes vary from province to province; and since it has been CCDO policy to assign titles that most aptly identify the specific occupation, it has not always been possible to use the legislated titles. Where legislated titles are not used as the base title they normally appear as an alternate title.
